TASK-2

Digital Portfolio

For my digital portfolio, I chose LinkedIn, GitHub, and Kaggle as they are widely used in both academia and industry. LinkedIn is primarily used for building a professional network, showcasing achievements, and connecting with recruiters and professionals. GitHub is a platform for hosting and managing code repositories, allowing me to document my projects and collaborate with others. Kaggle is mainly used for learning and practising data science and machine learning through datasets, notebooks, and competitions.

Over the next four years, I plan to actively develop my presence on these platforms. On LinkedIn, I will regularly update my profile with projects, certifications, and internships to build a strong professional identity. On GitHub, I aim to upload my coding projects, including academic and personal work, to create a solid portfolio. On Kaggle, I intend to improve my data analysis and machine learning skills by participating in competitions and working on real-world datasets. Together, these platforms will help me grow technically and professionally.
